

e-Inclusion Scotland '09: Making Sense of Inclusion in e-Learning

Venue: The Click, 1st Floor William Harley Building
Glasgow Caledonian University

Date: Wednesday 27th May 2009

Time: 09:45 –16:30 Registration/Refreshments from 09:15

Cost: £75

Presented by the two Scottish RSCs in collaboration with TechDis, this one day event will provide a chance to explore opportunities that e-Learning can offer in creating effective and inclusive opportunities for students. Speakers, workshops and informal sessions throughout the day will investigate the developing and dynamic role that technology can offer in creating inclusive learning experiences for students in further and higher education in Scotland and across the UK. The event includes speakers who will share their experiences, inform, challenge and inspire you.

There will be an opportunity to:

- ▷ Explore effective practice by staff working in further and higher education
- ▷ Learn about the inclusion benefits that online resources can offer
- ▷ Explore the potential of mobile and remote technologies as a tool for inclusion
- ▷ Investigate the potential that the growing availability of low cost or no cost assistive technologies can offer
- ▷ Learn more about creating and accessing information in alternative formats
- ▷ Explore resources which will help to address staff health and wellbeing of staff working in colleges and universities
- ▷ Speak to some of the leading assistive technology suppliers
- ▷ Network with others

The event will also explore the ways that new developments in everyday/ubiquitous technologies can offer the chance to create inclusive experiences for everyone. Wherever you are on the spectrum, from 'technically savvy' to 'a bit nervous of trying new things', you should find something that interests you!

In addition to presentations and workshops, there will be a series of short 'show and tell' sessions by educators and assistive technology suppliers and (hopefully) assistive technology users on the use of different technologies to support inclusion.

This event hopes to capture the interest of a wide range of staff and will be of particular interest to:

- Support for Learning/Student Advisors
- Library/Learning Resources staff
- Curriculum and Teaching staff
- Staff Developers
- Network and technical staff
- e-Learning Champions
- Community Based Learning staff
- Managers with responsibility for social inclusion
- Equality/Diversity Staff
- HR/Occupational Health staff
